ADDITIONAL COUNCIL BLUFFS.

"This is a regular Muldoon's picnic," said the mayor last evening at the close of the democratic convention. And it was a picnic, not only for the specta-tors, but for the delegates as well.

At the outset everything flowed along as calmly as a river, but the mud raked up on Tuesday night was too near the surface to settle and it had to come up. George A. Holmes, esq., called the convention to order and nominated Emmett Tinley, esq., as chairman. He made a neat little speech on taking his seat. He hoped that the deliberations would be in a spirit of fairness, etc. How little he knew what was to follow. F. H. Guanella was elected secretary, and it is hopen his records are complete for the benefit of those who took the places of chief actors in the comedy enacted. The first three nominations were made by acclamation. W. H. Knepher, alderman-at-large; S. B. Wadsworth, park commissioner, and John Shoengen, member of the school board. The second member of the board was selected on the first formal ballot. J. C. DeHaven was declared the nominee. He declined to run, but it made no difference. Some one said he would run and that settled it.

Then came the second act. With low music and calcium lights, Colonel Whittlesey moved that the convention elect a chairman of the city central committee. Alderman Lacy said the convention had no authority to do so. The chairman could not decide the question and Editor Farrell was called on to decide it. He said the colonel was wrong and then there was a circus. Motions to "proceed," "adjourn," "elect," etc., and everyone on his feet The motion to adjourn was recognized by the chair and voted on. The "ayes had it," and then everybody kicked. "Go to —." cried one, "you're anoth-er," replied another. Finally the chair announced that the ward committeemen had met (but when and where he did not state) and had selected P. D. Burko as their chairman. "If you think you can have it all your own way, we'll fool ye," was followed by a perfect jargon, and pandemonium reigned supreme. Act third opened with the chief actors in an animated argument. Two aldermen came together and one was hustled out of doors by a friend "to keep the peace." Personal recrimination and abuse of each other preceded the Here is something desirable, 2 full lots in breaking up of the crowd. "If I was a have a picnic out of this," remarked a democratic editor. It was a most disgraceful scene; one which is never seen where honesty, candor and courtesy are the principles which pervade the actions of gentlemen.

More Than a Mile a Minute. The fastest long run ever made in this section of the country was made by the west bound fast mail train on the "Q" Tuesday evening. The train was several hours late and was running to make up lost time. The company forfeits $500 every time it fails to connect at the transfer with the Union Pacific, which leaves at 7 o'clock for the west. At 5:34 the train left Creston, 104 miles cast of here, and at 8:07 rolled into the transfer depot. There were several delays along the line that cut down the actual running time considerably. There were stops at Villisca, Stanton, Red Oak, Malvern railroad crossing, Pacific Junction, Wabash railroad crossing, Tower railroad crossing, Chicago & Northwestern railroad crossing, cutting down the time to two hours and two minutes. A run of 104 miles in 122 minutes is not made in the wild and woolly west every day. The fastest run, however, was from Creston to Villisca, a distance of thirty-five miles, which was made in thirty-three minutes. The train was in charge of Conductor J. Strond, and engine 430, which pulled it, was manned by J. S. McDonald and Fireman J. H. Hillis. The New Broom Sweeps Clean. The Electric Railway and Bridge company has just received a combined street sweeper and snow plow, and ran it over the line yesterday. A motor car furnished the power, and a couple of revolving brushes, about five feet long and three feet in diameter, clean up all dirt and throw it to the side of the track. It will keep the tracks and the center of the street in splendid con-dition. All that now remaids to be done in order to secure perfect clean streets is for the council to purchase that long-promised sweeper to take care of the sides of the streets. Tumbled Over the Brink.

John Merriam met with quite a serious accident Tuesday afternoon. He was hauling dirt on North Madison street when he lost control of his horses and the whole outfit, horses, wagon, diet, and man we at over a bank to the street below. The fall was about twelve feet, and wagon and load landed on top of the horses. The driver escaped with a few bruises. One horse was completely covered with the wreck and was so badly injured internally that it will die. The other will recover, though badly bruised. The wagon was
